

A WHOLE NEW GAME with a whole new twist!

The new digital edition of The Real Game with always-popular student activities now online and accessible from school or home!

Developed through an unprecedented, not-for-profit partnership of over 10,000 North American teachers, counselors, students and parents, The Real Game has been used in classrooms and community agencies in thousands of settings, with millions of young people, for over a decade.

The Real Game digital edition is a brand new game which features new environmental education, character education, community, and essential workplace skills components, as well as many new role profiles directly from industry!

Facilitators can choose to deliver the program in the traditional hardcopy format, or using exciting new online presentation and interactive components for students that can be accessed from school or home. Preparation is a breeze, and teachers not only save time, they also save energy and a lot of paper, while having more fun than ever!

This new generation of The Real Game is a “must see” for those wishing to help young people imagine and experience (through role-playing) the future they wish to create. Students discover, for themselves, why success in school (academic, personal and social) is vital to achieving their dreams. They become more engaged in school. They become more intentional and purposeful in constructing their future.
